TO THE READER.

Although I am sensible, that Prefaces on these Occasions are usually interpreted as formal Commendations, rather than true Descriptions of the Books exposed to Sale, yet; with relation to the ensuing Collection, it may not be improper to acquaint the Gentlemen, the Buyers, that the Books are considerable as to number, choice in their kind, (especially the Divinity and History,) and, if we consider the Qualifications extraordinary; as curiously bound, the most part being Gilded and Lettered, some of the Royal; and many of the Large Paper; which short account I hope will be favourably received, because it is for the Benefit of the respective Buyers,

Your Servant,

E. M.
